

Honing Marble Waiver

Polished marble is more resistant to staining than honed. However, honed marble reduces the problem of etching (mainly, because it's pre-etched). Honed Marble can also show smudges and fingerprints more. It's more difficult to clean and requires more maintenance.

Breakage, cracks and other defects can occur during the honing process. Grey and Black stones will show light scratch marks. Materials like Super White contain veins of quartzite. These veins will not hone and will remain polished.

I hereby acknowledge I have read the risks and understand that by signing this document, I wish to proceed with refinishing my slabs to a honed finish.
